

XIAO-PING CHENG, MD

Physical Medicine San Francisco

If there were a prize for the physician who works the hardest to make sure patients are cared for in the best possible way, Dr. Cheng would win it. His gentle demeanor and ever-present smile make him a favorite with colleagues and patients alike. A specialist in Electrodiagnostic Medicine and Interventional Pain Management, his work ethic is legendary at the San Francisco Medical Center. Patients always come first for him, and he exhibits this devotion with his "no-problem" attitude through long days. When presented with stressful challenges, he only becomes more pleasant, smiles, and asks to do more. His colleagues call that heroic!
